So much then is clear. Mr Wilson, as president of the United States and the spokesman of these Sentiments and principles, will have the support of his fellow countrymen. But as he has chosen to act without asking the approval and agreement of his fellow countrymen, so he must expect that the country will reserve its right to reject what is submitted to them at Versailles and not at Washington.

The president has embarked upon the greatest venture in our political history. He has chosen to follow his own impulses and his own ideas, without regard to the views of his fellow countrymen. The danger, therefore, is quite as apparent as the possible gain. All deconds upon the single circumstances, still hidden. We do not know his purposes, his program. Therefor, we can only wait until we hear from Europe what American policy is and from Versailles what Washington believed.

LONDON, Dec 2 —Kurt Eisner, Bavarian premier, is lessing prestige, according to Munich advices received here by the way of Amsterdam, copenhagen and Berne. A Copenhagen dispatch says that Eisner was hissed by his own partisants at Munich during a celebration in honor of returning soldiers. Later a supporter of Eisner was not allowed to make a speech and was obliged to fee from an angry crowd which removed the red flags along the streets and storned the ministry of the interior, shouting.

Guards fired over the heads of the crowd which disnersed.

A Berne dispatch to the Mail says it is believed that Bayaria is gradually reaching a conclusion to relain its unity with the rest of Germany rather than seeking a separate peace. This message also reports evidences of growing hostility toward Einder, adding that there are signs in Munch that a crisis is approaching and that action favoring some form of monarchy may be taken within three weeks

NEW YORK BOYS, 16 TO 19.

REGISTER FOR SERVICE NEW YORK, Dec. 2. Boys in New York state between the ages of 16 and 19 are registering today for military training under the military training under the military training law. It is estimated that the number of registrants will total 20,000. Mout 75,000 boys have already been corrolled under the training law but they must file register. So that complete data may be obtained. School boys are called upon to answer only three questions, but those who have left school to work must fill out a long and detailed questionaire.

Every boy will get a certificate assigning him to an armory or school where drills will take place. Without such a card a boy can not work or go to school and if he is decided to do nothing he will be arrested as a vaginant on the antiboating law. The training will take up one and a half hours a week.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 2.—The old governmental machine in Berlin is still operating according to Kurt Eisner, the Ravarian premier as quoted in the Ravarian premier as quoted in the Revarian of this city. Eisner, in speaking at a meeting of the soldlers and workmen's council for Bavaria at Munich, the Telegran states, announced. Tast week I went to Berlin, where the entire machinery of the old government is still working."

Referring to the revelations made public in Munich in the form of decumentary evidence of Germany's responsibility for the war, Eisner is quoted as saying:

shifty for the war, Elsner is quoted as saving:

"From the secret documents of the Bavarian legation I published those which will prove to the rilliest to whom we owe the war."

"At Berlin," continued the premier. "I demanded that men like Dr. Alfred Zimmermann and Herr von Jagow, who were unmassked by this publication, be immediately arrested. I am quite sure they have been granted only a short respite.

"I taid the gentlemen of the old system that they were incapable of conducting the peace negotiations,
"It is true we have a revolutionary government in Berlin, but it has nothing to say. If Berlin is incapable of acting, we Bavarians must first help ourselves and act in the interests of the whole."

The premier added that Bavaria will ask at the peace conference the doing away with the armies of Germany and of the whole world and put the duty of the maintenance of law and order upon a military police force.

AMERONGEN, Holland, Dec. 2.—William Hohenzollern and his wife, Augusta Victoria, attended divine service in the castle here Sunday. The service hegan at 10:45 a.m. and lasted until 12:15 p.m. It was conducted by Rev. W. Reichel, of the Evangelical Brethren at Zeist. The congregation included Count von Hentinck, the former emperor's host, the castle servants, Count von Bentinck of Muylestein, a brother of the owner of the castle, and his family and servants.

The first reading of the Scriptures, which the former emperor listened to attentively, was from Matthew xxi, verses 1 to 9. This was followed by the singing of the hymn, "God Be-Praised Throughout the World," the reading of the liturgy, prayer, the second reading of the Scriptures and another hymn.

The preacher took for the text of his sermon Isalah xl, verses 1 to 8. The service closed with the singing of the hymn, "A Heart That Loveth Humility," and the benefiction. No foreign visitors were in the chapel, nor was there any particular activity manifest in the life of the castle.

MEMPHIS AUTHORESS SENSATION AT LONDON LONDON, these 3.—M Clemenceau, the Erench priemier, caused a sensation in his speech at the French embasse by declaring that but for him Marshal Foch would have had no command. The occasion was a reception of the premier and Marshal Foch who were given another extraordinary ovation.

One of the next and attractive of the new publications of special interest and appeal to children is the work of a Memphis young lady. Miss Madge L. Patteson, who is a member of one of the best-known families here. It is a series of short stories for children, unlast the title of "Marco, the tiypsy Elf," whose doings afford keen amusement to those who tolow him through his career. The book is handsomely printed and bound and is just off the press of films Bros. New York. The stories are well told and should hold the interest of the youthful reader, there are 100 of them and the reading of one merely whots the appetite for the next one.

The young authoress, in making this here initial venture in the realm of bookdom, displays talent of rare merit and shows that she horoughly understands the working of the child mind. She has for several years been a contributor to magazines, but her latest efforts give promise that will be heard from later in the larger realm of literature. The little fairy story book will no doubt find its way to many a child's library.

The government is now investigating the prewar methods of the fereign office particularly regarding the handling of secret funds. The result will be published as soon as the investigation is completed. The flight of the former emperor from Germany is condemned in many quarters there and particularly by the soldiers according to the Berlin correspondent of the Berlingske Tidende, of Copenhagen, says a dispatch received here from the Danish capital. Dr. Steinager, a professor of law, writes in Der. Tag of Berlin, as follows:

"No criticism would be too strong because the emperor's action was unkingly, unsoldierly and unmanly and served to give the dearth blow to the monarchical idea in Germany. A monarch can not run away like a school hey A man who like this last of the lichenzollerus, represents five centuries of history, commits by such conduct a crime against the dynasty and the people.

EDWARD A. RUMELY INDICTED BY JURY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1—Edward A. Rumely, of New York, who bought the New York Evening Mail with money said to have been furnished by the German government, was induced by a federal grand jury nere for falling to report German ownership of property to the alien property custodian. There were two counts in the indictment. The first set forth that on October 17, 1917, and since, Rumely had control of certain shares of stock of the 8 S. McClure newspaper corporation for and on behalf of the German government and that he had failed to disclose this fact in a report to the alien property custodian. The second count alleges that Rumely failed to report to the custodian that he was indebted to the German government in the sum of $1,451,700.

Rumely is under indictment in New York on a charge of persury in consecution with his report of the purchase of the Evening Mail.
